

Why do some surge protectors offer Coaxial and Phone connections?

Last Modified on 04/05/2019 4:37 pm CDT

A power surge can come through any type of connection. Devices such as modems will be plugged into a power source, as well as a phone or cable line. In order to fully protect the equipment, all sources of power entering the equipment should be plugged into the surge protector.

---